Atatürk Faculty of Education

Marmara University Atatürk Faculty of Education

The Department of Guidance and Psychological Counseling

The Guidance and Psychological Counseling Department was established in order to give courses in the subtopics of educational sciences to all departments of Atatürk Faculty of Education and to provide undergraduate education on guidance and psychological counseling for 4 years at the same time. For this purpose, it's conducted teaching methods and researches in order to bring out the academic achievement and psychological health of primary, secondary and higher education students and to reach perfection in education by training teachers and guidance counselors in school environments according to the teacher development standards of developing countries of the world.

Education and Training

The undergraduate program in guidance and psychological counseling offers courses focusing on content knowledge, general cultural knowledge, and pedagogical training. The programs lasts 4 years and it combines theoretical training and field experience. Graduate programs, namely a Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy are also offered by the Institute of Educational Sciences. As the relevant scientific researches are conducted in this department, it also provides training and implementation courses to our students. Our students are actively involved in the existing clubs in their departments and are able to follow current developments closely in their fields.

Facilities

Ataturk Faculty of Education is located in Göztepe Campus on the Anatolian side of Istanbul which is one of the most important metropolises in the world. Compared to other universities in Turkey and in Istanbul, the central location of the campus enables our students to make use of a variety of social, cultural, educational, and sport facilities in the city. Such an advantage contributes not only to the cognitive development of our students but also to their affective and psychomotor development. At the same time, they are able to obtain internship opportunities in institutions and organizations serving in their field in Istanbul. The department also offers a double major program to the students who meet the necessary conditions.

Employment Prospects

The graduates of the program might work as specialists at state and private schools, Guidance Research Centers, private counseling offices, and human resources department of companies.
