Besides offering a comprehensive academic education, our department which started the education life at 1991 in the body of Marmara University, it also raises successful academicians with the post-graduated and doctorate programs

The student who accepted to the department enter the program with German foreign language point also take an equipped education in the field of literature and linguistic. Both basic literature and linguistic courses with their sub-sections are available in the department. We help our graduates not only German Language and Literature education but also prepare well-equipped with social and cultural qualifications at their working lifes by means of optional courses and their sub-specialty and double major specialty.

Also our university has education option in Germany within the direction of foreign contracts and still workings in this field continue.

The department of German Language and Literature study written texts. Students take an education of examination and comment on literal texts.

Education field and equipment

- We suggest cultural based courses to show how German Language progressed except from basic German Language and Linguistic courses.
- Language is studied different usage styles in time and background views. Because watching a language's development in its
- culture also helps understand its literal development. In this context, language history courses in our department are very essential.

- Besides history of language and literature, also history, philosophy or sociology are criticized with the helps of optional courses.
- Some courses like European Art and History of Opinion contribute to the students literal skills.
- Courses belonging to sub-specialities in the field of linguistic cover both optional and obligatory courses.

- Psycholinguistic (obligatory)

- Text Studies(optional)

- Some translation courses within the optional and obligatory courses are available in our department.
